Pahokee taxes to increase slightly

PAHOKEE—While residents can expect taxes to increase slightly next year, the city of Pahokee will receive about the same amount of tax revenues.

The City Council, at their meeting Tuesday, July 24, certified a tentative tax rate of 4.127 mills for the 1984-85 fiscal year, an increase of 0.02 mills over current rates. City Clerk Betty McCoy told the council that due to a slight decline in the city's taxroll the new millage will allow the city to maintain current revenues.

The city would gain an estimated $183,798 in tax revenue off the new rate, as opposed to $182,574 this year.

Council member Ada Conley summarized the situation, telling residents, "You will be paying a little more in taxes, but we won't be getting any more money."

Julia Johnson, of Pahokee, asked the council to consider all the city needs before agreeing on a millage rate. The city should consider raising taxes to enable it to finish some of the badly needed projects around town, she said, pointing specifically at the condition of many city streets.

Conley said she would rather see the city tighten its purse strings, instead of asking residents for more taxes. "I'm just basically not in favor of raising millage," she said.

In a related topic, Conley said she would try to discover whether the new nursing home facility and neighboring apartment buildings will be on next year's tax roll. Council members noted that the structure's are on tax-free property.

In other city business:

Council members adopted the first reading of a pair of ordinances which, if approved on second reading, will nullify the county's new handgun ordinance setting a 14 day waiting period for those purchasing handguns and also requiring dealers to obtain special licenses.

The council voted 3-1 in favor of the nullification. Continued on 2

Pahokee's Jackson inks pact worth a cool $1 million

VERO BEACH—Pahokee native Rickey Jackson entered the millionaire ranks, Saturday, July 21, signing a three year contract valued at $1.5 million with the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

The all-pro linebacker's signing ended six months of negotiations with the Saints. Jackson, a 1977 Pahokee High School graduate, had an existing contract with the Saints which would have paid him about $560,000 over the next three years.

Jackson's agent, Mike Stauder, also of Pahokee, said that while he was pleased with "the compromise," the existing contract limited his client's bargaining power. "I'm pretty satisfied, although I do think he's worth more and I think he'll prove that when this contract runs out in three years," Stauder said. Entering his fourth year with the Saints, Jackson and his teammates began training camp, Thursday, July 19, in Vero Beach.

One big advantage in the new contract, Stauder said, is that at the end of the three years Jackson has no obligations to continue playing with the Saints. There is no option year in the contract.

Jackson's new contract makes him one of the highest paid linebackers in the league, Stauder said. "He is certainly one of the premier players at his position."

Among those who represented the Saint's at Jackson's signing in Vero Beach was Saint's owner John W. Mecom Jr., head coach Bum Phillips, and negotiator Pat Peppeler.

Jazzercise combines rhythm, dance

By TOM KISKEN

PAHOKEE—A group of Pahokee women are dancing their way toward good health.

A jazzercise class, sponsored by Palm Beach County Adult Education, is being held every Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7-9 p.m. at the Pahokee High School choral room. Carolyn J. Brown, instructor of the class, invited anyone interested in music, dance and exercise to check out the brand new class. "Some people come here to lose weight, others to tone their bodies, but all of us have a good time," she said.

Rosemary Cunningham, one of about 10 women in the jazzercise class which just began meeting a week ago, said, "It's a good outlet, and without this I would never have exercised. No matter what size you are you need some type of physical fitness."

Brown said jazzercise is the movement of the body to the rhythm of music, exercise through dance.

Jazzercise is for anyone looking to shape up, or just socialize, Brown said. She urged older people to participate in the class, noting that no one is forced to do more than they should do. "If you feel like you're doing too much, just stop," she said.

The class starts off its session with two laps around the football field. Brown said some run through the laps while others speed walk, depending on their capabilities. Before any serious dancing, Brown puts the class through a series of warm-up, stretching exercises. And then, its lights, music and dance.

Each class is scheduled for two hours. Brown said students are free to leave whenever they feel they've had enough. The class takes several breaks during the class to discuss diets, nutrition and health in general. "We do more than just jazzercise," Brown said.

Noting jazzercise is relatively new to Pahokee and the Glades, Brown said many people just don't know anything about the exercise. If people give the class a chance and see what jazzercise is all about, it will become just as popular in the Glades as it is nationwide, she said.

Brown and her students are doing their best to publicize the class, hanging posters around town and talking to friends. While attendance has improved somewhat, Brown said the class is nowhere near its potential.

The class will continue to meet into August. Brown said she hopes to offer another class this autumn, through Community Education.

The fee for the class is $15. Anyone interested can either show up at Pahokee High School, Tuesdays and Thursdays, or call 996-4945.

1st woman trooper joins Pahokee station

I feel that if I can go through the academy I can handle anything that might come up.

LUSIGNAN

PAHOKEE—Trooper Veronica Lusignan assumed her new duties at the Florida Highway Patrol Pahokee station, Monday, July 23, becoming the first woman trooper ever assigned to the station.

Lusignan, a fresh graduate out of the Florida Highway Patrol Training Academy in Tallahassee, said she was excited about her new duties, "but a little nervous."

"It's an honor being the first female, but I don't expect any problems or anything," Lusignan said. "I feel that if I can go through the academy I can handle anything that might come up."

The 12-week academy includes both mental and physical training. Lusignan said. Out of class of 59, 12 of the new troopers in her class were women, she added. All troopers, regardless of sex, go through the same training.

Sergeant R.L. Helton noted Lusignan's training would continue on-the-job. She will spend the next 60 days riding patrol with an experienced trooper. Helton said he didn't look at Lusignan as the first woman trooper, but just as a trooper. "She's going to have to perform as a trooper and she will be treated like any other trooper."

Jury to ponder slaying

WEST PALM BEACH—Jurors were scheduled to begin deliberating at the end of this week in the lawsuit filed against the City of Pahokee, Pahokee Chief of Police Carmen Salvatore III and others by the sister of a man killed in 1982.

Eric Peterson, attorney representing Pahokee and Salvatore, said he hoped to begin presenting the defense's case either Tuesday or Wednesday, July 24-25, and looked for the jury to begin discussing the case Thursday or Friday. Plaintiff's testimony in the case, filed by Queen Bash back in August 1982, began Monday, July 16 in West Palm Beach before County Judge John Wessel.

The plaintiffs maintain Nathaniel Bash was killed back in August 1982 as a result of excessive police force. Police followed improper procedure in attempting to remove Bash from an apartment on State Market Road, plaintiffs claim. Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and Sheriff's Deputy Mike Stull, who fired the shot which killed Bash, are also named as principals in the suit.

Peterson said the trial had gone smoothly so far. The plaintiffs' presentation did not include any surprises, he said. "We honestly feel that not only the municipality, but all others involved will be vindicated," he said.

The defense, Peterson said, will present testimony from all law officers called to the crime scene back in August 1982, in the order in which they dealt with Bash. Patrolman Ethridge Bryant, Sgt. Ulysses Kerr, Salvatore and Stull will be called in that order, Peterson said. "We want the jury to see everything unfold, just as it happened, as best we can," he said.

Attorneys representing the plaintiffs were unavailable for comment.

Peterson said the incident began when Bryant and Kerr were called to 220 State Market Road and were told Bash allegedly had stabbed a child with an ice pick. Despite attempts to persuade the man to drop an axe he was carrying and surrender, Bash remained armed in the apartment, Peterson said.

Salvatore and Stull also entered the apartments and made unsuccessful attempts to persuade Bash to surrender. Peterson said. At one point, Bash turned his back and headed into another room, but whirled when Salvatore made an advance, he continued. Bash then picked up both a shotgun and rifle, thus clearing all officers from the apartment, Peterson said.

Stull, according to Peterson, stationed himself outside the front door, armed with an M-16 rifle. Stull fired, Peterson said, only after Bash raised his weapons to his chest, shoulder and then looked down the sights.

Stull and Sheriff Richard Willie are being represented by Al Coogler in the case. Mark Goldstein, Don Dowling and Tom Kinkade are representing the plaintiffs.

Woman arrested for cocaine possession

BELLE GLADE

—Acting on information about narcotics being sold at a local business, police arrested a woman for possession of cocaine with intent to sell, Monday night, July 24.

Russell, 22, Lot 88, Belle Glade Marina, was found with less than five grams of a substance believed to be cocaine, Carney said.

Carney made the arrest assisted by detectives Albert Dowdell III, L.D. Grieve and Patrolman Jim Weaver. The case is still being investigated and further information is being withheld, Carney said.

check showed the vehicle which Cahill was driving as reported stolen by a St. Petersburg man on Sunday, July 15. Cahill was also charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, unlawful blood alcohol level, driving with license suspended and failure to drive within a single lane.

Two days later, Saturday, Patrolman Doug Brown arrested Charles Randolph Searle, 18, of Orlando for driving while under the influence, carrying a concealed weapon, possession of drug paraphernalia and unlawful blood alcohol.

Brown said he pulled Searle over at the corner of US 27 and SR 80 at about 11:40 p.m. and noticed that Searle's vehicle had been extensively damaged and was still carrying dirt and greenery. Subsequent investigation and search of the vehicle resulted in the charges.

Chief Ray Humston

arrested a woman, Tuesday morning, July 24 for obstruction by a disguised person, no vehicle registration and no valid driver's license. Humston said he followed a car driven erratically into the parking lot at Terry's Restaurant on US 27.

The driver gave a name which Humston said he later discovered to be false. Search of the woman's purse showed the woman to be Patia Meeks Davis, 46, of 638 S.E. 4th St., Belle Glade. Humston said Meeks was also discovered to have an outstanding warrant issued for driving without a valid driver's license.

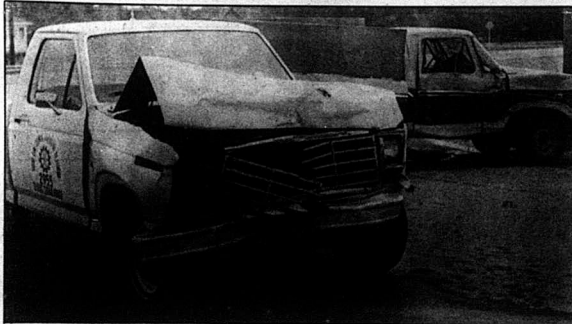

Councilman Walt Rashley suggested a workshop be scheduled to discuss more in depth classification of city salaries. Conley said there may be a discrepancy between the way different department heads handle raises. McKinstry asked that all department heads present proposed raises to the council.

The city will pay the first $250, or more if allowed by its insurance coverage, of car damage sustained by a city resident who said she got caught on one of the raised manholes in the alley connecting Barfield Highway and Cypress Road, behind the Church of God. Councilman Walt Rashley noted the alley is badly in need of repairs.

Attorney Mike Stauder reported that he has sent a letter to the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation asking for a status report on the company's work toward acquiring permission to lease the marina from the city.

Lusignan will reside in Pahokee, moving for good Monday, July 23, from Delray Beach. Lusignan is not married and has a nine-year old son living with her mother in Delray Beach.

Family support, Lusignan said, has played a big part in pushing her toward a career as a trooper. She said her mother was the first one to suggest that she attend the academy and become a trooper. Damion, her son, also thinks the new job "is just great," she said.

With the assignment of Lusignan and another trooper Nathaniel Starke, who was assigned to the station about two months ago, the Pahokee station now has nine troopers. Helton said the station is authorized to have 12 troopers.

Starke, formerly of Tallahassee, said he has just begun to patrol without a partner. "I love the job," he said.

Sod growers gather for demo

The best is yet to come, sod growers from all over the state were told by researchers at a Sod Quality Field Day and Equipment Demonstration, Thursday, July 19.

About 170 growers gathered at the South Bay Growers Adams land farm for the first ever sod field day put on in the area. The University of Florida Institute of Agricultural Sciences sponsored the event.

Ken Shuler, Palm Beach County agricultural extension agent, told growers at the field day that research is currently being done which could eventually help their sod plots. "The best of anything hasn't been developed yet, new advanced things are still being worked on," he said.

Another important message stressed at the field day, Shuler said, was the importance of growing a quality sod. With increasing competition and more selective buyers, growers had to produce quality sod in order to survive and maintain a good reputation, he explained.

Most discussion at the field was focused on St. Augustine grass. The field day began with presentations on sod varieties, fertility management and herbicides. Growers were taken on a field tour where they compared different grass varieties and were also introduced to relatively new herbicides.

Afternoon activities included equipment presentations and demonstrations. Manufacturing representatives from throughout the South introduced growers to their equipment which included recently developed sod cutters, pliers and other machinery.

Shuler said organizers had originally planned only to display the sod varieties at the field day. However, plans escalated when manufacturers expressed an interest in displaying their equipment. The equipment, Shuler said, drew many of the farmers.

Shooting victim listed 'fair'

SOUTH BAY -- A Clewiston man was listed in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach, after being being shot in South Bay, Thursday night, July 19.

Palm Beach County Sheriff's Detective Rick Radford, of the Glades Sub Station, said Myrtis Jones, 23, of Rt. 1, Clewiston, was shot in the upper right chest outside an apartment building at 275 N.W. 10th Ave., at about 11:20 p.m., Thursday. Jones was rushed to Glades General Hospital in a private vehicle and then flown to St. Mary's where he underwent emergency surgery early Friday morning.

Aggravated battery charges were brought against Alvenita McCall, 23, of 244 N.W. 10th Ave., apartment 7, South Bay. Radford said McCall surrendered herself at the Glades Substation about one hour after the shooting. She is being held at the county jail under a $3,000 bond.

Radford said McCall was arguing with Jones and Joel Gibson. The men reportedly approached McCall together, Radford continued, and when they were about five feet away the woman allegedly pulled a .22 calibre revolver out of her purse and fired two shots. Gibson was not injured.

Built wrong to stand the wind of 1928...

Editor's note: the following is the fourth in a series recounting the early Glades experiences of Floyd Wilder and family. Reprinted with the permission of "Tampa Bay History", Department of History, University of Southern Florida.

As Told By FLOYD WILDER
To RUTH S. IRVIN

Mr. Gardner helped my father build a house for us in 1927, after we bought some lots in South Bay on what is now known as 2nd Street. The house was located four of five lots south of where the railroad tracks are today. We were a quarter of a mile or so from the sand and mud dike on the lake.

My father built our house to take advantage of all prevailing breezes. Four rooms projected out on four sides, and each room had a door and windows. It was built wrong to stand the wind of the 1928 hurricane.

The day before September 16, 1928 storm was not too bad. It was cloudy, breezy, and cool with sudden showers. Sunday, the sun came out, and the wind was blowing briskly. We had been told that there was a hurricane, but no one expected it to come into our area.

Hilda and Clarence Lee came from Sebring Farm with the children - Billy, Geneva, and the baby. In the afternoon, Gardner's two sons, Billy and Johnny, who was my age, Raymond and I went down to the North New River Canal bank, nearby. We were skipping rocks along the water. The wind was strong. The lock was closed, and water was piling up around a big barge tied up in the lock.

Mr. Gardner had been up around the post office, and he got word that the hurricane was coming our way. He came down to get his boys. This was about 3 or 4 p.m., and he may have been down to talk to my father. He told Raymond and me to go on home because a hurricane was coming.

Hilda and Laura cooked a fried chicken dinner, and we ate, Mrs. Thigpen with Lillian, Pearl, and Philip, who was a buddy of mine, were with us. Just before dark we noticed the water coming up, and my father, Clarence, and all of our boys ran out and began gathering up chickens, putting them in the corn crib. We had about 200 chickens. It was raining, the wind was blowing a gale, and the water was coming up fast. It got so dark that we gave up on the chickens and went into the house which was built on pilings.

The water began to come into the house. The water rose fast, and my father said we must go up in the ceiling loft. I went up first with a kerosene lamp. They started passing up blankets and other things to me, and all of us were soon up in the loft - Dad, Mrs. Thigpen and her three children, Hilda and Clarence and their three children, Melvin, Raymond, Laura and I. There were fourteen of us in the loft.

Something hit the house and knocked it off the piling about 9 p.m. I will always believe it was part of the grandstand from the ball park that was located to the north of our house. Since the house sat between the canal and the roadway and the locks on the canal were closed, the water piled up and the wind swirled the house through the water. The house shifted and leaned.

The last thing I heard my father say was, "Run to the far corner!" and everyone ran to the far corner and huddled there.

"Hold on to the roof!" he yelled. I reached up and held on to the timbers. The roof went, "Zing," and then it was gone. There was no sound except the sound of the wind and the rain. The house disintegrated and dumped us into seventeen feet of water.

I could feel people kicking me as we came out of the huddle. We were dumped out in utter darkness amid debris. Glass, tin, and flying timbers were all around us in the air and water. I must have grabbed hold of about three different things as I was dislodged from one to grab another.

The next morning, I discovered with the first light from the sun that I had caught a section of sheeting from a tar paper shack. I was on the east side of the canal near where the bridge was located. The timber to which I clung was lodged on a slant in a big guava tree, and this had served as a wind break. I was wet, cold, and so exhausted that I hated to get up. I must have dozed off again.

"Running around the track daily would be excellent. Running away from the table sometimes would even be better."

A Pinch of Salt

There is a very funny story from China which goes something like this.

Arrested for stealing an ox, the thief was put into a conque, which is a large square wooden collar. A friend came to visit him and asked why he was being punished. The thief answered, "I was just walking along the street when I saw a grass rope on the ground. I thought it had no use, so I made the mistake of picking it up and taking it home; and I got into trouble."

"But what is wrong," asked his friend, "with picking up a grass rope?"

"Well," replied the thief, "there was something tied to the rope."

"And what was it?" asked the friend: to which the thief replied, "A very small ox."

Does that story sound familiar? Perhaps even you are a little slow at owning up to your "mistakes." Please read carefully the following verses from the Bible they will give you specific instructions to follow for those times when you know you have done wrong.

"If we say that we have no sin, we are deceiving ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar, and His word is not in us." (1 John 1:8-10)

Let me suggest four blessings which will come as a result of your honesty with God:

1. Your fellowship with God will be restored, and peace will flood your soul.
2. Your family will be bound to see the difference in you, and you will become a source of encouragement and harmony.
3. Your church will be a better place, and revival may very well break out. That's right, you may be the one holding back revival in your church.
4. This country is one step closer to the place where God wants it, because of you. "Psalms 33:12 says: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord," and Proverbs 14:34 says: "Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a disgrace to any people."

When you sin against God, don't rationalize or minimize; that's just another way of telling lies. Come clean with God.

New Royal's furniture stores open in 6 locations

BELLE GLADE—The 54-year tradition of Royal's Department Stores will continue with the new Royal's Furniture stores open in six locations and plans for expansion of the furniture store chain in the near future, announced Larry Parrish, Director of Store Operations for Royal's.

Royal's Furniture has new stores at Belle Glade, Okeechobee, Clewiston, LaBelle and Immokalee. At Lake Placid, Furniture Country U.S.A., a new concept in furniture marketing has been introduced by the 54-year company. Royal's Department Stores was sold to McCrory's Variety Stores earlier this month. The chain of family department stores was founded in 1929 with a small mercantile and grocery store on the southeastern shore of Lake Okeechobee at Lake Harbor. From its modest beginning at Lake Harbor, Royal's grew to become a leading regional independent retailer in south central Florida. In sale, Royal's retained the furniture division and opened new retail stores in cities where the Royal's oval had come to be a shopping tradition for thousands of south central Florida families.

"We are very pleased with our reception and especially with the continuing confidence of our customers," said Mr. Parrish.

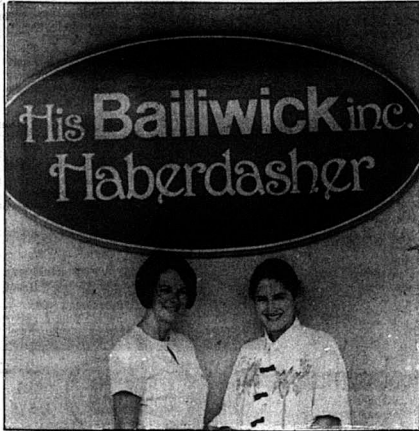

"We want to assure our customers that the same tradition of service, value and our guarantee of satisfaction will continue in our new furniture retail stores.

and Quasar home entertainment, together with a wide variety of home furnishings, we believe we will continue to enjoy the confidence of our long time customers as well as attracting more new friends," Parrish added.

Innovative new marketing ideas are promised including a new warehouse furniture showroom for Belle Glade opening later this summer and expansion into new markets in the center of the state slated for later this year.

Royal's Furniture has locations at: -Belle Glade adjacent to the original Belle Glade Royal's store at 400 S.W. Avenue A downtown, -Clewiston, Royal's Furniture is next door to the former Royal's Department Store Bond St. location, -Okeechobee, a new location is open at 301 S.W. Park St. in the heart of downtown shopping area, -Immokalee, Royal's Furniture is open at 402 Main St., -and LaBelle, Royals Furniture is open on U.S. Highway 29 South.

Furniture Country U.S.A., a new discount warehouse furniture retail store, opened at Lake Placid in the Winn-Dixie Shopping Center earlier this year. Corporate offices are at 324 S.W. 16th at Belle Glade.

PROPRIETOR Sue Bailey and daughter Lisa in front of their new business, His Bailiwick, Inc., in the Dino's Plaza. The shop will open soon.

Bailiwick opening planned soon

BELLE GLADE—His Bailiwick, Inc., a clothing and accessory shop for the convenience of the men and young men of the Glades will open soon.

Mrs. Bailey said the business is a local family owned corporation. Her daughter, Lisa will be managing the shop with her.

Mrs. Bailey and her husband Bill have three children, Lisa, Stuart and Traci. They have lived in the Glades for 40 years.

Mrs. Bailey is a real estate broker and so is her husband. She was recently appointed to the Board of Glades General Hospital, fill.

She explained that the name Bailiwick means "territory". She added that it was also a unique way to include the family's name in the business.

The opening date will be announced at a later time according to Mrs. Bailey.

Glades athletes return home

Glades area junior olympians returned home Monday, July 23 after competing in both the Junior Olympics and the Youth Track Nationals over the last two weeks.

Nine high school track athletes from Belle Glade and Pahokee were members of the Palm Beach County Community Foundation's team which competed in the Junior Olympics last week in Baton Rouge, La. The youth also ran in the nationals held in Provo, Utah, the preceding week.

Harry Howell Jr., girls coach for the foundation team, said over 2,500 kids competed in the Junior Olympics representing over 35 states. Considering the quality of this competition the foundation team did quite well, he said.

"The quality of competition was just staggering," Howell said. "I really have to give credit to the kids in the Glades."

Howell also commended Glades area coaches, specifically citing Jay Seider, of Glades Central Community High School, for the way they prepared their athletes during the school year, both mentally and physically. "They made it possible for these kids to get on a plane and compete in national events," he said.

In the Junior Olympics, medals were brought home by Leontye Mann, Gladys Milton and Garcia Tucker, all of Glades Central, sparked the 4 by 400 meter relay team to a fourth place finish. The team had a time of 3:56.39.

The boy's 4 by 400 relay team, including Court Dryden, of Pahokee, and Alonzo Allen, of Glades Central, finished second in their heat and qualified for the finals. Howell said the team had the lead in the finals when a mixup in the baton exchange forced the team out of the race.

Lawrence Duncan, of Glades Central, cleared 6 foot-4 to take 13th place in the high jump. Jeff Frost ran the 800 meter race in 1:59.09 to finish sixth in his heat.

David Billings and Rechina Johnson, both of Glades Central, also competed in the Junior Olympics.

Howell said the team is already making plans for a return to the nationals in New York City and to the Junior Olympics in Seattle.

Fishing Report

Compliments of "Tennessee's Pro Guide Service"

Due to rain, the lake level has risen approximately 10 inches.

Bass fishing is good on the inside to thick cover using top water plugs, mirror lures, and Devil Horse and small crank bait (shad wrap or mighty minnows). The best fishing is still the early morning and late afternoons. There will be a new moon on July 28 and speck fishing should be good on or about that date.

To find the Blue Gills, look for chinri winks (blind mosquitos) in buggy reeds and on the water. Just a reminder: on July 28 there will be a benefit for George Pawliski at Bert Crowell's Warehouse in Pompano Beach. Beer and food is $50 per couple. For tickets call Tennessee at 936-7222. The next tournament scheduled is Slim's Tournament, August 5. The cost is $40 per boat. For more information call Slim's at 936-3844.

CREDIT PROBLEMS?

If your loan application to purchase a new or used car was turned down by the Bank or other lending institution, The Stewarts may have good news for you.

For a limited time, we have over $200 million dollars available for auto loans. Credit requirements are more liberal than what you've probably experienced. Terms are longer, and now down payment is necessary. Interest is well below PRIME LENDING. RATES CHARGED BY MOST BANKS.

Call now and drive home today in a new Pontiac, Toyota, Mazda, Fiat, or Peugeot. Call for an appointment or come in. Ask for Mr. Foster. Speedy Finance Manager.

Besides her husband, John Y. Dell, she is survived by two sons, Julian B. Dell of Belle Glade and John N. Dell of Lake Worth; two daughters, Glenda Cupp of Jupiter and Gail Brown of West Palm Beach; two brothers, Fred Forehand of Green Cove Springs and Edward Forehand of Cottonwood, Alabama; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Mixon Funeral Chapel, July 23, with the Rev. Aaron Pettry, pastor of the Worship Center Church officiating.
